

Visit or volunteer at the Moss Mansion and discover a treasure on the edge of modern downtown Billings, Montana.

“This is a museum well worth the visit. Lots of local history, beautiful period pieces, and Kathleensuez, human interest.”

Memorable, Unique, Indelible

Memorable Each experience you have at the Moss Mansion will be one you want to share with others. From the insights gained working in the archives to the relationships built among other volunteers at events, lasting memories are forged at the museum.

Unique Rare among historic homes, the Moss Mansion was first and foremost a home for over eighty years. Few sites reveal such an original view of the architecture, and few contain personal treasures revealing so much about the family that lived there.

Indelible P.B. Moss’s lasting impression on Billings and Montana is undeniable. Continued work to preserve and interpret the treasures of the Moss Collection requires the passion and curiosity of this and future generations.

The mission of the Billings Preservation Society, symbolized by the Moss Mansion, is to inspire, to educate and to facilitate historic and cultural preservation activities for our community and for its future generations.
